

Exclusive: Deepfake pioneer to lose two papers after misconduct finding of faked data

Two papers coauthored by a computer scientist whose work on visual effects has been credited in big-name Hollywood movies will soon be retracted after a publisher's investigation found falsification of data in the articles.

Retraction Watch has also learned that the University of Southern California (USC) found that Hao Li “falsely presented his research” in the two publications while he was a professor there.

Continue Reading →

<https://retractionwatch.com/2023/01/30/exclusive-deepfake-pioneer-to-lose-two-papers-after-misconduct-finding/>

Hao Li